Rangoli Making

A timeless and very important part of our vibrant culture can be found in the many hues of Rangolis, found at the entrance of almost every Indian household and at every auspicious occasion of celebration. For centuries, we have had a tradition of lending colours to festivals through Rangoli. The diversity of our country is visible in Rangoli. Rangoli is drawn in different states with different names and on different themes. Under the 'Azadi Ka Amrit Mahotsav', Central Public School organised 'Rangoli Making Competition' for grade VIII. Students participated enthusiastically and exhibited their creativity and patriotic fervour through colours.
